The Telegraph Pole Nuisance.

Entron Curric. Between midnight and daylight last night, a gang of telegraph hands in the northern part of the city was permitted to the northern part of the city was permitted to make night hideous by the erection of a number of tremendous telegraph poies. That many hendreds of citizens should be thus disturbed by the barging and crashing and various other nelses incident to such work is an outrage that would be tolerated in no other city. If authority existed to erect those poles, why was it not done in daylight, decency and good order. If the exection of the poles was illegal and unauthorized, why did not the poles instantly interfere and stop the work? Did somelody "stand in" with the telegraph company? You will earn the gratitude of all those residing for several squares on each side of the npier part of Fifteenth street by making an effort to bring to punishment whoever may be reported by the street of lustiness.

Another Carcless Driver. Ella Dressei, a white girl, was run over by a direcart driven by a colored man mined Jack Brown, at the corner of Eleventh and K streets, last night. The girl's arm was broken, and she was re-moved to her home, 1716 Vermont avenue. The driver was arrested and was charged in the Police Court this morning with assault and battery. A doctor's certificate was read by the prosecutor to the effect that the girl was suffering from a compound fracture of the forearm, and would not be able to appear at court for some days. Policeman Shanks stated that he saw the accident, and the driver was sitting in the eart with his back to the horse when it occurred. He also stated that the girl was negligent, as well as the driver. The case went over for one week, and the accused was committed in default

Death of General Cuvier Grover. General Cuvier Grover, colonel Firs-Cavairy, who died suddenly last Saturday at Atlantic city, will be buried this after noon at West Point, in accordance with a wish expressed by him years ago. He was born in Maine, July 29, 1828, and entered at West Point July 1, 1846, graduating in 1860 as brevet second lieutenant, and was promoted to lieutenant Fourth Artillery the following September. When the Tenth Infantry was formed in 1835 he was appointed first lieutenant in that regiment, becoming captain September 7, 1858, and was promoted to major Third infantry August 31, 1835, by seniority. During the war he served with great distinction as division commander in the Army of the Potomac and in the Nineteenth Corps, being brevetted for the battles at Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, Cedar Creek, Winchester and Fisher's Hill, and was severely wounded at Coiar Creek. On the increase of the army in 1835 he was made lieutenant-colonel of the Thirty-eighth Infantry, and was transforred to the First Cavalry, December, 1870, becoming colonel of the regiment December 2, 1875, on the retirement of General George Stoneman. AMUSEMENTS.

"Fra Diavoto."—A very large audience witnessed the performance of Auber's popular opera last evening at Albaugh's Grand Opera-House, and had it not been for the chattering of inconsiderate theatre parties, every one would have heartily enjoyed the entertainment. As it was many of the audience were regaled more with choice details of the donestic affairs of certain families than they were entertained by the dialogue on the stage. Those who were undisturbed, however, keenly enjoyed the performance. It is a novelty to see a woman as Fra Diavolo, but Miss Winston assumed all the little masculine mannerisms that are conventional in rendering the part in a way that tional in rendering the part in a way that was very attractive. Miss Louise Searle made a decided hit as Zeelina, and her opening sole was justly encored. An encore should have been demanded from Miss Winsten, who followed, for of the Miss Winsten, who followed, for of the two her execution was decidedly the more brilliant. The chorus saug excellently and was repeatedly encored. With the exception of the Boston Ideal chorus it is the best drilled of any comic light chorus on the stage. Mr. Walt Hampshire sang the part of Lorento sweetly, but has hardly enough animation. Messus, Allen and Fay, as The Brigands, were no better nor worse than the usual performers of those parts. The remaining characters were acceptably taken. To Mr. Adam Itzell, jr., director of the orchestra, is due the credit for the excellent training of the chorus.

COMIQUE SUMMER GARDEN. - The Theatre Comique Summer Garden opened last night, and a great crowd was on hand to witness the best pleer of melo-dramatic acting seen at this resort for years, Miss Fanny Herring as Jack Sheppard. The same bill will be presented every night this week and at the matthees—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The Summer Garden is a delightfully cool place, and worth the small price of admission charged for a chance to escape from the least of for a chance to escape from the heat of sweltering in the ordinary places of amuse-

READ CAREFULLY.

Another Grand Move Toward an Increase in Business.

We are now building an extension of 35s 117 feet to our already magnificent establishment, which, when finished, will give us the finest Show Rooms in the United States. We have the finest Electric Light in the country. making at night our entire building as bright as the finest day in sunlight. No heat of gas. or from the cogine running the Electric Light, as one would imagine, because the store is cooled by 12 large Patent fans, distributed throughout the building, making a breeze equal to that feit on one of our steamers while salling against the wind on the Potomae. All of this is worth seeing, and you are cordially invited to come and enjoy the breeze, whother or no you wish to purchase. We have come to the conclusion that we have more goods and less money than we want to earry out our new enterprise of running our building through to Eighth street. We shall open this new addition, with new goods only. We shall com mence to run off our present stock, without regard to cost. Our assortment is large, much larger than necessary to carry. We will, must and shall sell. Call and be convinced that it is a pleasure to deal with LANSBURGH & BRO. No misrepresentations are made. Every article is guaranteed as represented or money
